

Rogue River Valley University Club

The Rogue River Valley University Club, a non-profit social club, was founded in 1910 by college graduates many of whom came from the east and mid-west drawn by the area's burgeoning orchard industry.

For over a century, the University Club has provided a gathering place for members and their guests and served as one of the region's most central, and significant, institutions.

The region's most interesting and engaged citizens continue to pass through our doors just as they have for well over 100 years.

The Club is also associated with the related RRVUC Scholarship Foundation which annually supports awards to college students.

Our Facilities

Dining Rooms

Our 108-year old National Historic Register building supports a variety of Club events. The main dining room (left) is open Monday through Friday for lunch. While special daily entrees are offered, the menu optionally features sandwiches, salads and soups that members and their guests may order. Seating is open and members maintain a casual, friendly atmosphere for debates and discussions. Lunch includes a delicious dessert — and lunches are equally and very reasonably priced. Special lunches, dinners and parties are additionally held throughout the year. The upstairs dining room seats 24 and is used for the Club's Young Professionals Lunch and Learn series but is also available for meetings and parties.

Board Room

This private room accommodates up to nine persons for business meetings or private luncheons.

Library

The COPCO/Pacific Power library recognizes the 80-year relationship between the Pacific Northwest's largest utility and the University Club. The library provides an area for reading, reflection or small conversations and is also an ideal location for light office work using the club's wi-fi network.

Membership

The University Club offers both Personal/Spouse and Business memberships (under which up to 5 five staff members share among themselves the Club's monthly minimum meals) and are equally eligible for all Club amenities. A special discounted Personal/Spouse membership is available to individuals under age 40.

Personal/Spouse and Business members pay a one-time $100 initiation fee and monthly dues of $122.50 (which includes a monthly minimum meal charge for 5 lunches). Members may use the club at any time for themselves and their guests. The club house is also available to members for private events at a modest charge.

Both prospective Personal/Spouse and individuals under a Business membership must have attended a college or university and must be proposed by two current members. Non-Resident membership is available for individuals living outside southern Oregon . Seasonal Memberships are available for individuals whose travel would significantly minimize their ability attend the Club on a monthly basis.

Reciprocal privileges are available to club members who wish to use the University Clubs of Portland or San Francisco or the Eugene Town Club.
